St. James Manitowoc to meet with the CCV on Saturday, Oct. 1, 2016

The Commission on Congregational Vitality (CCV) has been established to partner with congregations of the diocese to provide tools and support to help congregations be as healthy and vital as possible. To aid in starting this work, a process of meeting with every parish and mission congregation of the diocese has begun, to better understand the uniqueness of each congregation: what you value, what you do well, what areas you'd like to focus on, where you need support. These gatherings are to explore how communities of the faithful can thrive, how we can learn from each other and build strength upon strength. The CCV is chaired by Fr. Eric Mills (St. Anne, De Pere), and in addition to Bishop Matt Gunter includes: Cathy Cowling (Trinity, Oshkosh), Mthr. Jane Johnson (Intercession, Stevens Point), Fr. Karl Schaffenburg (Grace, Sheboygan), and the Rev. Joanne Skidmore, a retired priest resident in Door County.

CCV is about how to cultivate and share successes. This initial process is owned by the clergy and people of the congregations, facilitated by CCV members who will meet with you to allow for structured discussion about who we are and who God is calling us to be as vital congregations. The word vital comes from the Latin for "life." Who we are in Christ can best be shared with each other and with all when we focus on the particular gifts and challenges God has given to His people in all of the diverse communities of this diocese. A CCV meeting should involve as many members of the congregation as possible and will last about 2-3 hours. When you meet, the facilitator will assist discussions about who you are, with standard discussion points and measures provided about discipleship, life together, and sharing new life in community.

After the meeting each congregation will receive a detailed report, and CCV will meet with your leadership for a discussion about what you have learned. In addition, as particular strengths are identified these can be shared throughout the diocese, so we can learn from each other and work with God to be the Church we are called to be.

Colloquially, when someone says something is "vital," he/she means it is very, very important. To be literal, saying something is vital can mean that life depends on it. That sounds pretty dramatic! It is. In calling us to be the Church, God involves us in His plan of salvation. The CCV process will allow for focus on what is working, what is life-giving, what gifts exist, so that the challenges we all face can be addressed in ways that are both faithful and allow blessings to multiply.

Edited by Amma Diane from an article in the June 2016 Clarion by The Rev. Karl Schaffenburg is Rector of Grace, Sheboygan, Dean of the Lake Winnebago Deanery and a member of the CCV
